

PCI-DSS

SECURITY STANDARD

What is?

PCI Data Security Standard (PCI DSS), is a security standard of mandatory compliance within the payment card industry. The program is a result of a unification effort by the card schemes VISA, MasterCard, Discovery, JCB and AMEX of their own security programs, giving as a result what is today known as PCI-DSS and governed by the "PCI Security Standards Council" (PCI SSC).

The objective is to help merchants, service providers and financial entities reducing the fraud risk associated with the credit/debit cards by complying with a series of requirements.
